

International Cochran-Hansen Prize 2017 Awarded to Dr. Girish Chandra of ICFRE

Dr. Girish Chandra, Scientist, Division of Forestry Statistics, ICFRE received the prestigious International “Cochran-Hansen Prize” 2017 given by International Association of Survey Statisticians (IASS), in the field of Survey Research during World Statistics Congress July 16-21, 2017 at Marrakech, Morocco. This biennial award is given to the best research paper in survey research methods of the young statisticians from the developing countries. Dr. Chandra received this prize for the application of ranked set sampling methods in response estimation of developmental programs implemented by government and non government organization in successive phases. He was also honored by the Indian ambassador of Morocco Dr. Kheya Bhattacharya,

(Receiving award from Prof. Steven Heeringa, President, IASS and Prof. Pedro Silva, President, International Statistics Institute)

(With Indian Ambassador at Morocco Dr. Kheya Bhattacharya and second secretary Dr. Rajkumar)